General Counsel

New Agency Regulations

25X1A Since writing the attached, some other suggestions have been brought to my attention, such as [redacted] setting forth in detail the credits for Army Reserve personnel not employed by CIA. It might be preferable merely to state that credits for such people may be determined in accordance with appropriate Army regulations and indicate where they can get the information.

25X1A [redacted] sets forth the management improvement program and quotes in full the statement of management improvement activities for fiscal years 1950 and 1951. We raise the question whether such a report is a necessary part of Agency regulations.

25X1A [redacted] paragraph A, in the introduction refers to the Federal Services Agency. We believe it should be referred to properly as the General Services Administration.
